SPCOM

2022 IEEE International Conference on Signal Processing and Communications

July 11-15, 2022

Indian Institute of Science, Bangalore

Call for Papers

The IEEE international conference on Signal Processing and Communications (SPCOM) is a premier biennial conference held at the Indian Institute of Science in Bangalore. The 14th edition of SPCOM will feature plenary talks from eminent international speakers, invited tutorials and special sessions on emerging topics in the areas of signal processing, communications, and machine learning.

Conference Topics

include, but are not limited to:

Audio, Acoustic, and Biomedical Signal Processing
Image, Video, and Multimedia Signal Processing
Computational Imaging
Financial Signal Processing
Deep Learning/Machine Learning for Signal Processing
Quantum Signal Processing
Graph Signal Processing
MIMO and Millimeter-wave Communications
Reconfigurable Intelligent Surfaces
Integrated Sensing and Communications
Cooperative and D2D Communications
Deep Learning/Machine Learning for Communications
Coding for Data Communications and Storage
Source Coding and Data Compression
Quantum Information Theory
Network Coding and Applications

Prospective authors are invited to submit original, high-quality research contributions (up to five pages long). The papers presented at SPCOM 2022 will appear in the conference proceedings. Please refer to the conference webpage for submission details.
